

Dear Readers,

It is with great pleasure that I welcome you to this edition of Eduphoria, the international interdisciplinary magazine published by the International Council of Education and Research. In a rapidly evolving global landscape, where the boundaries between disciplines are constantly blurring, Eduphoria strives to be a platform that bridges diverse fields of study, fostering a culture of collaboration, innovation, and lifelong learning.

Dr Dilpreet Kaur,
Editor, Eduphoria

Our current issue delves into the dynamic interplay between education, technology, and society, examining how these forces shape the future of knowledge and learning. As educators, researchers, and thought leaders, it is our collective responsibility to adapt and respond to the changing needs of our communities, especially in an era characterized by technological advancements, digital transformation, and complex socio-economic challenges.

In this edition, you will find insightful articles, research papers, and thought pieces that explore a wide array of topics—from the integration of AI in classrooms to sustainable education practices, and from policy innovations to the role of culture in shaping educational paradigms. Each contribution has been carefully selected to spark dialogue and encourage a deeper understanding of the critical issues that define our time.

One of the recurring themes in this issue is the importance of interdisciplinary collaboration. The challenges we face today are not confined to a single domain, and neither should our solutions be. It is only through a multidisciplinary approach that we can address global concerns such as climate change, social inequality, and digital inclusion. At Eduphoria, we are committed to showcasing work that embodies this spirit of cooperation, where diverse perspectives come together to create new possibilities.

As you navigate through the pages of this magazine, I hope you find inspiration, knowledge, and a renewed sense of purpose. Let us continue to learn, share, and grow together, building a world where education serves as a beacon of hope and progress.

Thank you for being a part of this journey, and for your unwavering dedication to the pursuit of knowledge and excellence. We look forward to your continued support and engagement.

Warm regards,

Dr. Dilpreet Kaur

Editor, Eduphoria