

Dear Readers,

It's a matter of great pleasure to launch Vol.02 Issue 02 of Eduphoria: An International Multidisciplinary Magazine. On behalf of the core committee ICERT, I congratulate the editorial board of Eduphoria for their tremendous work, and I also extend my gratitude to the publication division who have created this publication with the intention of providing a space for sharing of knowledge, dialogue, critique, debate, and collaboration among an international community of researchers, faculties in school & higher education, health professionals, corporate professionals and community in general. This e-publication makes it possible for us all to be fully connected to each other and to developments in our field and to be directly involved in ongoing knowledge construction. Eduphoria is an open access multidisciplinary magazine and we can therefore invite you to be full participants in the creative process that we are undertaking together.

Our intention and vision are to create a high-quality publication that will be relevant, challenging, thought-provoking, and inclusive of a diverse range of voices and perspectives, including graduate students, academic researchers and scholars, policy-makers, social reformers, health professionals and community members in general. We welcome original research, theoretical contributions, review articles, case studies, and innovative ideas for publication.

I assure all readers that our expert editorial team will publish the best and high-quality contents in order to support access and diversity in the ever evolving and dynamic world of academic publication.

We are delighted that you are joining us as readers and hope you will also join us as contributors.
